Sunlife building counter offer rejected

By Janice Harrington

A counter offer made by Didsbury town council to the potential purchaser of the Sunlife building has been rejected after the purchaser allowed the offer deadline to expire last week.

Council had made a counter offer to the purchaser to demolish the building rather than the town, a condition which was part of the initial purchase offer.

But Town Administrator Mike Storey said council will now have to review the plan to tear down the old building which currently houses Realty World.

"Because there was no counter offer, council is still in a position to demolish the building because of the resolution they had passed earlier," said Storey. "So this will have to go back to council for them to decide on whether to demolish or whatever."

But the decision to destroy the building has come under fire from some members of the Downtown Revitalization committee. Vance van Dam said the committee is looking at appealing the council's decision to tear the building down.

"Our concerns about the building are based on the fact that over a year ago a committee was struck to try and get Didsbury into the Main Street Alberta program," van Dam said. "Getting into that program is contingent on having historical type buildings around for restoration."

Main Street Alberta is a provincially funded program which gives grants to smaller communities to restore their downtown areas. van Dam said he believes Didsbury is in a good position to receive funding from the program in the near future.

"But we don't want to jeopardize the position of the town by the demolition of this building," he said. "I know how good this program is because I was involved in the pro-

Under question

The old Sunlife building, is slated for demolition by the Didsbury Town Council. The building, built in 1925, was under negotiation with a possible buyer who wants to turn the land into a parking lot. The destruction of the building is being questioned by members of the Downtown Business Revitalization Committee who say tearing it down may endanger Didsbury's chances for funding from the Main Street Alberta program.

gram in the town I lived in before Didsbury. The results were positive and I think this program will be important for a town like Didsbury."

The next move over the fate of the Sunlife building will rest with council, but van Dam said the Downtown Revitalization Committee is also considering approaching council to ask for permission to get estimates on the restoration of the building.

Cost estimates on either the demolition of the building or its renovation have not been done but Town Administrator Mike Storey said council believed restoring the building would be too costly.

If the deal for the purchase of the building goes through with the interested buyer, the land will be used as a private business parking area.

Canada Day events correction

Some events listed in last week edition of The Didsbury Review are incorrect. Afternoon events such as face painting and caricature drawing will not take place. Downhome Didsbury events will not begin until 6 p.m. on July 1 except for the model plane flying demonstrations which will run from 1 to 4 p.m.

Also, the elevator movies will be showing June 30 starting at dusk. Movies showing are Star Wars and The Empire Strikes Back, not Return of the Jedi as has been promoted.

BOP planning old pool demolition

By Janice Harrington

Plans for the demolition of the old indoor swimming pool complex in Didsbury are hastily being made as plans for the construction of the new pool begin.

Build Our Pool Society President Lance Plewis said BOP is busy talking with a number of contractors to determine the best means to pull down the old building.

"There is a safety aspect to it that we really have to consider," said Plewis. "It is really close to the old brick school house and we want to make sure nothing happens."

The old pool, opened in 1968 at a cost of $176,610, was deemed unfit for public use after structural problems were discovered. Similar to the new indoor swimming facility about to be built in Didsbury, a plebiscite was held to decide whether the money should be borrowed to build the pool. With the yes vote, tax increases were estimated at 5½ mills or $35 per year for a house assessed at $7,000.

Tax increases to cover the cost of borrowing $1.078 million to build the new indoor swimming facility are estimated at around 4 mills.

But despite the building problems with the old pool, Plewis said BOP does plan to salvage some of the goods which remain in the building.

"Talking to Master Pools [the designer and possible contractor for the construction of the facility], they said alot of the stuff inside wouldn't be up to code, and some of it is rusting," he said. "It's not really worth putting that kind of stuff into a million dollar pool, especially when the cost of jackhammering it out is almost as expensive as buying new. So instead we are going to have an auction."

The auction, Plewis said, will be held to sell such things as lighting and plumbing fixtures, lockers and other removable items.

No time line has been set for the demolition of the old pool, but Plewis said they hope to have it down in time to refill the hole with dirt from the construction of the new pool.

"And since that is scheduled for this summer, we will have some definite plans soon," he said.

Plans for the demolition of the building will have to pass through town council before work can begin.

Open house

Didsbury's newest residential development opened its doors to the public Saturday for the first time. Visitors got a chance to see the housing recreational area available at the College Greens for people 55 and older. Condo style housing in the development is selling for around $90,000.

Traffic survey to determine road planning

Surveyors asking questions of travelers heading out of Didsbury over the last 3 weeks have been gathering information for Alberta Transportation.

Peter Kilburn, Supervising engineer for Alberta Transportation and Utilities said surveyors were directing questions to drivers leaving on all Didsbury exits to help them create better planning strategies for road improvements.

"This is a typical survey for us," he said. "We call it a community cordon survey and the kind of information we are looking for is travel patterns. We build up a data base and then we can look at what will happen if we improve roads."

For example, Kilburn said, if the traffic department knows where people are going to and from, they can predict where a shift will occur if a road is improved. That way, the engineers have a good idea what kind of traffic they can expect on the improved road and can gauge base thickness.

"It is basically just a planning function," Kilburn said. "It helps us to do our job better."

Besides the survey, which basically asks people where they are heading, the surveyors also help out other provincial departments through data gathered by observation. Kilburn said a tally of drivers wearing seatbelts is given to the RCMP and helps to determine if enforcement of the seatbelt law should be heightened.

"We also help out with trucking statistics," he said. "We find out what kind of goods are being transported on the roads around a community and pass it on to Public Safety Services. Having that kind of information helps with emergency planning."

The survey, as well as car counting using a magnetic counter, usually lasts about 2½ weeks. Approximately 6 communities a year are surveyed.

Dog owner fights back against petition

By Janice Harrington

The owner of a dog who attacked another in a Didsbury park and bit the hand of the dog's owner is fighting to keep her dog alive.

Kate Bellows said she plans to fight a petition being circulated by Colleen Strangward which asks for the destruction of the bull terrier which made the attack last May.

Bellows said she is tired of all the controversy surrounding the incident and wants it all to just go away.

"This is an incident that happened," she said. "I paid my fine and I would just like to let it drop."

The petition calling for the death of Bellows' terrier came after Bellows was levied fines by a provincial court judge for allowing her dog to bite, allowing it to run at large and not having a dog tag. The total amount of the fines came to $120. In an earlier interview with the Review, Strangward said she did not feel the dog should be allowed to live after attacking.

But Bellows, who breeds bull terriers for show, feels the incident was isolated and could not happen again.

"I take all of my dogs to obedience classes and I have never had a problem with any of my dogs before this," she said. "I think this matter is just because people aren't informed about the breed. They aren't pit bulls. I raise mine as family pets and they are not aggressive."

Bellows said she invites anyone who would like to know her dogs to call and come over to meet them.

"If they were aggressive, I wouldn't have them in my kennels or around my baby," she said.

As a result of her fight against the efforts of Strangward, Bellows said she hopes people will come to view the dogs as personalities rather than stereotypes.

"Maybe then people will stop making threats of poisoning my dogs," she said. "Things have just gone too far."

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

Who's griping now?

By Janice Harrington

We Canadians have done alot of whining over the past year or two about the state of the country, but this week and the upcoming celebration of Canada's 125th birthday has caused me to pause and think about just what it would be like not to live in Canada.

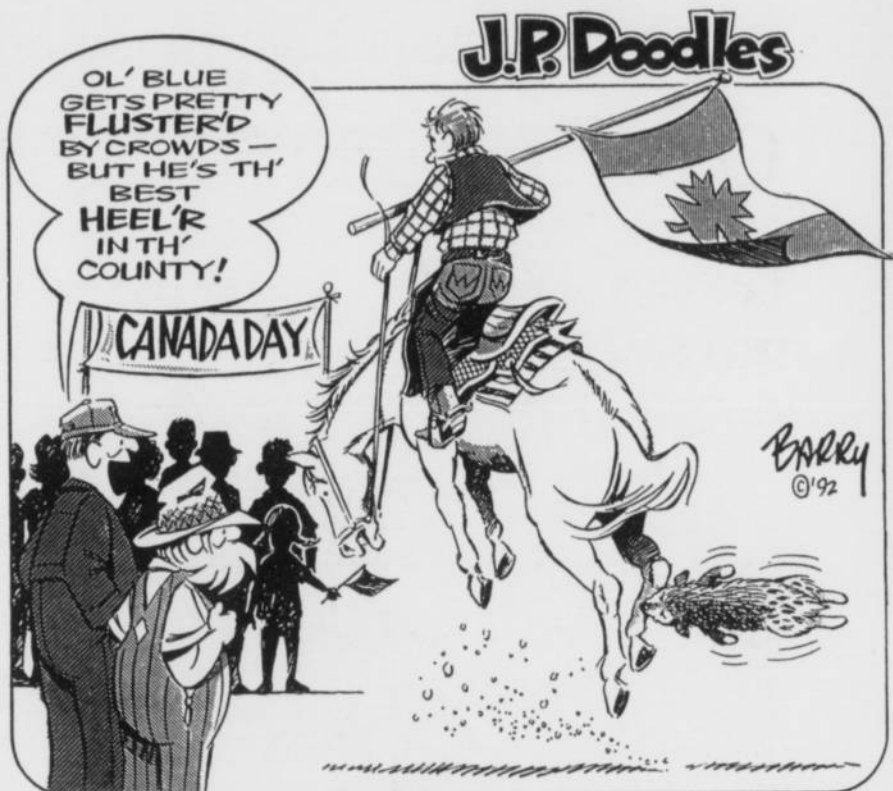

When you think about it, Canadians have it pretty darn good. In fact, we have a great country. Out of every country to live in throughout the world, ours has the most to offer. Yah, yah, I know about the complaints about high taxes and the constitutional crisis and government disillusionment, but when you stop to think about who we are and what we have accomplished in the short time period we have existed as a country, you have to be proud.

As a nation, we don't do much back patting (especially compared to the Americans) but we have a heck of alot to boast about. I studied Canadian history while in university and I was amazed at the incredible stories that we never hear about. Our military prowess was second to none during the World War I. We helped black slaves reach freedom through the underground railroad. Our ancestors travelled across the second largest country in the world to start a new life for themselves. We invented insulin, basketball and hockey (good grief, what more do I need to say!). We are considered a leader in humanistic and socially progressive attitudes. Even the United Nations thinks we have a great place to live.

And when you compare Canada to other countries, the spread between first and second place widens. Canada is clean and open, and full of natural resources. We are free of war and relatively free of street violence. We have the freedom to elect our government representatives and the freedom to complain about them later. We are considered a leader in environmental initiatives and a leader in the search for peace. Our military training is still considered one of the best offered and our standard of living is high.

But out of all of this, what I consider most important of all is that Canadians keep striving to make things better all the time. We have environmentalists working to keep our country clean and safe to live, we have constitutionalists working to keep our country together, we have people working to ensure the rights of our aboriginal people, and we have people striving to change laws we feel are inappropriate or ineffective.

Face it, we are going to make mistakes, after all we are only 125 years old, a relative pup in the world scheme of things, but I have to wave the flag a little bit. We have come a long way during our first quasiquicentennial.

Volunteers appreciated

Dear Editor:

I'd like the opportunity to thank the people who gave up their weekend (June 19, 20, 21) to volunteer to take over 30 athletes to compete in the Special Olympics in Calgary.

I don't know all of their names, but thanks to Olds Ass. for Community Living--PAD-NOMA Support Services (Olds) and a special thanks to Anne and Lloyd of Regional Living Skills (Didsbury).

Without these dedicated people and companies our handicapped athletes would have had no training or support.

Congratulations to all participants, you are all winners.

Mrs. A. Overwater,

NovAtel inquiry another waste

Dear Editor:

Everybody wants to tell on NovAtel now that we know that once again the Alberta government has wasted more millions on a lost venture, the opposition wants to get on the bandwagon.

We, the public, are fully aware that NovAtel was massively bungled and also know that the 1/2 billion loss we are told is probably low, yet now the opposition parties want to waste more millions on an inquiry. How stupid. We, the public, are patiently waiting for the next election and the provincial government will then feel our wrath.

I personally will not support any party who wants to spend more money on the NovAtel fiasco.

Allan Tuggle,
Didsbury

Freedom of speech requested

Dear Editor:

It seems lamentably clear that politicians today do not trust the citizens of Canada.

The Mulroney government has avoided its responsibility and accountability to the electorate, by announcing that a national "referendum" on our proposed federal constitutional amendments may not be binding.

At the same time, the Getty government has introduced its own Constitutional Referendum Act, which will be binding. Unfortunately, the second last paragraph of the Act will allow the provincial government to violate our freedom of speech, by regulating or prohibiting any contribution or expense, either in support of, or opposition to, the referendum question.

Each voter should write to his/her MLA to request that the government amend this paragraph before the passage of the Act. This will assure us that our uncensored vote, in a binding referendum, will reflect the real views of Albertans, not politicians, and will send a strong message to the federal government that the people should have the final say in any changes to our constitution.

Yours truly,
Mark Waters, Director
Albertans for Responsible Government

Treated Wood:
Environmentally Sound

Treated wood is the ideal solution for many outdoor projects. Canadian Institute of Treated Wood has a free information brochure with safety tips.

OTTAWA (PP) - Despite the obvious environmental benefits of pressure treated wood, consumers should be aware of proper use and handling tips for the product according to a recent statement by The Canadian Institute of Treated Wood.

Henry Walthert, a professional forester and Executive Director of the Institute, says there are certain applications for which the use of pressure treated wood is not recommended. For example, treated wood products should not be used in areas where they would come in direct prolonged contact with food or animal feed.

The ingredients used in pressure treated wood are chemicals which protect the wood from fungi and insects. They are applied to the lumber in a pressure chamber and allowed to fix and dry before the lumber is shipped to market. Properly applied, this treatment greatly extends the useable life of lumber in harsh conditions thereby reducing the heavy cutting demand on Canadian forests.

That is the focus of an environmental information program recently launched by CITW. Entitled "Treated Wood Saves Trees" the program is geared to provide the public with information on the positive environmental impact and the safety aspects of treated wood.

"When you mention chemicals and pesticides publicly, people instantly conjure up visions of unrestrained use of products like DDT and Agent Orange," said Walthert. "Most people don't understand chemistry and are frightened by it. When used properly, chemicals can provide tremendous benefits to society and to the environment". Pressure treated wood is one example of the usefulness of chemical treatments.

Walthert said the institute has been working closely with Agriculture Canada, which oversees the Pest Control Products Act. "We think it is time the government reviewed the products we use and the methods in which we use them in order to allay public fears and support what we already know; used properly, these products pose no threat to the environment."

The CITW encourages caution when working with the product. People should wear gloves when handling and masks when cutting or drilling treated wood. It should also be cut outside or in a well-ventilated area. "These are normal precautions which should be taken when working with any wood," Walthert said. "Sawdust and splinters are always a hazard, whether the wood is treated or not."

CITW publishes a brochure that deals with the environmental and safety issues associated with pressure treated wood. This material is available at lumber centres nationwide displaying the "Treated Wood Saves Trees" material or by telephoning the CITW toll-free information number 1-800-463-TREE.

Backyard Construction
Pointers

(PP) Here are some additional suggestions that may help you in building your project or fence:

- Always nail a thinner piece of lumber to a thicker piece.

- Nails and other hardware should be a hot-dipped, zinc-coated or equally well-protected material. Otherwise, weather may cause them to rust, leaving streaks on your project.

- For maximum holding power, use ring - or spiral-shank nails. They can help reduce warping of lumber.

- To reduce splitting, drill a pilot hole about three quarters the diameter of the nail. For dense or brittle wood, grind sharpness from nails or blunt the points by striking them carefully with a hammer. Blunt nails cut through; sharp ones pry apart.

- Mill ends of lumber may not be square. Re-square and trim end.

- With lag screws, use flat washer under head.

- Use washer under nut and head of machine bolts and just under nut of carriage bolts.

- Wear gloves to help avoid splinters and a mask when drilling or sawing to avoid inhaling sawdust.

- Tops of upright structurals and joist ends should be bevelled to a 30° to 45° angle for drainage to minimize moisture absorption. While pressure-treated wood resists end rot, it remains subject to splitting, checking and chipping caused by moisture-induced swelling and subsequent shrinkage.

- Treated wood is resistant to damage from termites and decay.

To help protect its appearance against the effects of moisture, use a water repellent; it will reduce checking, twisting and splintering.

- When staining wood, follow the manufacturers' instructions. Wood should be dry for best results.

SWIMMING POOLS, SPAS & HOT TUBS Home Entertainment Centres that Make a Splash

MONTREAL (PP) - When more than 600,000 families considered ways to provide more entertainment, relaxation and exercise in their home in 1990, they added a swimming pool, spa or hot tub. Even more families than that are expected to become part of the crowd in 1992, raising the number of homeowners with pools and spas to over 6 million in North America.

Pools and spas are so enticing because they bring families together. They often become the focal point in the home for a variety of activities that everyone enjoys - swimming, soaking, relaxing, playing, entertaining, and chatting. Pools and spas have become the new "family rooms", replacing many of the places and activities that brought family members together.

In-ground pools are North America's latest version of the sunken living room; above-ground pools have turned ordinary backyards into playgrounds; spas placed on a deck or patio have replaced more traditional sun rooms; and hot tubs and exercise equipment are turning basements into home gyms. Since there are also several special kinds of pools, swim spas and portable spas, virtually everyone can add one of these new "home entertainment centres", no matter what size their home.

Then, the typical Sunday afternoon can become a memorable family occasion when everyone gets together poolside to sun, read the paper, swim, talk, float, relax and enjoy an afternoon cookout on the grill.

A spa can make the average week-night become a candlelit dinner for two, allowing a couple to catch up on the latest news and let the trials and tribulations of the workaday world drift away in a stream of bubbles.

Vacation at Home:

Take a Dip, Not a Trip

Pools and spas can make staying at home seem like a vacation. In your own pool, you can let the kids play all day in the water. Swim to your heart's content; lie in the sun and get a tan; float on a raft in a gentle breeze; throw a special party for friends, and more.

With your own spa or hot tub you can soak away the worries of the day every day. Soothe your tired muscles. Feel your spirits be lifted by thousands of tiny bubbles. Catch up on the lives of your loved ones. Have some friends over for a long talk, and let work seem like it's miles away.

Healthy Home Work-outs: Fitness Fans Take the Plunge

Another reason so many families find pools and spas appealing is that they fit right into their exercise regimens. Nothing beats swimming for exercise. It's been billed as the perfect all-around sport because it's among the best forms of exercise for toning arms, shoulders, legs and the trunk. More than 75 million North Americans swim every year.

People of all ages and ability levels enjoy swimming, even people with back or joint problems. Because the body weighs less, movements are easier and there's less stress placed on joints.

But there's more than one way to exercise in a pool. Today, fitness fanatics have developed a form of aerobics called "Aqua Dynamics" that allows you to shape up and slim down by working out in water. With exercises appropriate for people of every fitness level and age, these new "water-obics" can let you increase your muscle strength, tone and endurance by working out in the pool - to music, if you like.

Besides being healthy, exercising in water is also convenient when the pool's in your backyard. There are no health club memberships, no locker rooms, no penalties for losing towels - because the comfort of your own home and bath is just footsteps away.

After the agony of a hard work-out, what could be better than treating yourself to the ecstasy of a hot soak in your own spa or hot tub. A spa's bubbling waters can soothe and relax muscles that are tired and aching from your exercise routine.

A Beautiful Warm and Safe Investment That Adds Colour to Your Home

What major colourful design element adds warmth to your home environment and enhances the value of your home?

Carpet does all of these things and more. In fact, it adds more luxury, beauty, comfort, and safety to your home than any other floor covering. There are a wide variety of colours and textures available in today's carpet designs and with the amount of space they cover, carpet can be the dominant decorating feature in most homes. Today's carpet is easy to maintain, durable and has value, and is one of the better investments you can make in your home.

So it pays to shop wisely. That starts with doing your homework before going to the store.

Choosing a carpet that's right for you

Not all carpets are created equal. Knowing the differences and buying a carpet that meets your needs can save you a great deal of money and give you years of satisfaction.

Most consumers think a carpet guaranteed for years is their warranty of satisfaction. The fact is most people tire of their carpet a long time before the carpet wears out. Today's carpets are made of state of the art fibres capable of withstanding lots of use before wearing out. The key to carpet longevity and customer satisfaction is not how long the carpet will last but how long it will look good.

That feature is called appearance retention and is a combination of factors such as fibre type, construction, pile height and density and, finally, carpet style.

Fibres

Carpet yarn or fibre can be made of wool, polypropylene, polyester, or nylon. The differing properties of each fibre type offer advantages over others depending upon where they will be used. Fibre choice is important and should be based upon intended use, appearance and cost.

Natural fibres like wool are more frequently found in expensive carpets. Synthetic fibres are durable, offer a cost advantage and provide excellent styling flexibility. Owing to the high cost of natural fibres, most carpets on the market today contain synthetic fibres.

Nylon is the most popular synthetic fibre used in today's modern tufted carpets, followed by polyester and polypropylene (olefin). Nylon fibre offers excellent styling flexibility and is widely used in both commercial and residential carpeting. Polyester is also a widely used carpet fibre that has inherent stain resistance and built-in static control. Nylon fibre must be specially treated to offer the same stain resistance as Polyester. Polypropylene is a fibre that is used in commercial applications where durability and colour-fastness are important factors. Outdoor carpeting and artificial playing surfaces are made with Polypropylene fibres.

Stain and soil resistance, along with colour clarity are essentially functions of the carpet fibre. Good carpets will carry a fibre label which explains stain and soil resistance along with warranty protection against wear.

Pile Height & Density

Pile density is the most important of these two. It refers to the space between individual tufts or loops of yarn that make up the carpet pile. Dense carpet packs more tufts into the pile. A dense pile wears longer, resists crushing and matting and retains its texture longer. Dense pile also helps to keep accidental spills and soiling on the surface of the carpet where they can easily be cleaned.

An easy test of carpet density is to dig your fingers into the carpet pile. With a high density carpet, you should experience some resistance before you feel the carpet backing. That is a good sign. Generally, the less resistance you experience the looser the construction, the lower the density and quality of the carpet.

Pile height is also an important gauge of carpet quality. In carpets of equal density, the one with lower pile will generally perform better.

Original Outdoor Projects from CITW

OTTAWA (PP) - As homeowners turn their attention to many backyard projects, the Canadian Institute of Treated Wood (CITW) is there to help with plans for a variety of projects from gazebos to hot tub decks.

"As part of our members' commitment to consumer information, we have plans to help people design and build any backyard project imaginable," Henry Walther, Executive Director of the CITW says. Typical plans include fences, decks, docks, seating, picnic tables, and storage sheds. But the institute's inventory of plans also include more fun ideas: play structures, pool decks, and a range of other large and small scale projects.

"People tend to be surprised at the number of different applications for pressure treated wood around the house," says Walther. "Because of the treated wood's unique durability and obvious environmental benefits, our members' products are used in landscaping, in the water, and in backyard construction projects."

He cautions that not all treated wood is created equal and advises consumers to consider the application before buying treated wood. Landscaping is one of the harshest applications for which good quality treated wood is ideally suited. People find that treated wood makes excellent borders for patios, driveways, paths, flower gardens and retaining walls. When the lumber is in close contact with the ground it is important to ensure it is properly treated.

"This is particularly difficult since not all treated wood is clearly identified," says Walther, a professional forester. Adding that not all treated wood producers in Canada are members of the CITW, he says there are a number of things to look for when purchasing treated wood.

When using the product for ground contact applications, he advises the use of incised wood. "The incising process allows the preservatives used in treating wood to penetrate much deeper than normal, which affords much better, longer lasting protection." Consumers can easily tell which wood has been incised by the small "staple-like" incisions on the wood's surface.

Another sign of quality is the

Space Age Technology for Your Pool or Spa

MONTREAL (PP) - You and your pool will no longer have to be a slave to corrosive chemicals if the researchers at Caribbean Clear have their way.

According to Ed McGregor, President of Crystal Healthways Products, Caribbean Clear is a new product for the swimming pool or spa that uses the same technology the Apollo space program used to purify water on extended space voyages.

At the heart of the system are two silver-copper alloy electrodes. These electrodes are located in the filtration system and they generate electrically charged particles of silver and copper when a current is passed between them.

As the pool water passes by these electrodes, the algae and bacteria cells pick up these charged particles, and they are destroyed and removed by the pool's filtration system. Mr. McGregor tells us that this product can reduce chlorine use by up to 80%.

The system is safe, effective, low maintenance and is easy to install. A system like this can be used to purify the water in a small spa or hot tub or in a six million gallon commercial pool. There are more than 40,000 units in operation worldwide and the technology is now available in Canada.

This innovative product can help reduce the amount of chemicals you use and save you some money. Also, this technology has less effect on your immediate environment and will allow you to spend more time enjoying, and less time maintaining, your pool.

For a free fact sheet on this exciting new technology, please call 1-800-363-3801.

presence of the quality assurance label from the Canadian Wood Preserver's Bureau. The logo is in the shape of a semi-circle and a half maple leaf, and it provides the buyer with the assurance that the wood has been treated with acceptable levels of preservative.

Proper use is also crucial to ensuring a long life for treated wood products. When cutting treated wood, it is important to treat the cut ends with a wood preservative to seal the wood and maintain the integrity of the wood treatment.

A wide collection of project plans and a handy information kit are available from the CITW at no charge. Just call them at 1-800-463-TREE for more information.

College helps celebrate anniversary

Olds College will mark the 75th anniversary of the first 4-H Club formed in Alberta by rededicating their 4-H cairn July 7th.

The event will take place amidst 4-H's annual Club Week festivities this July. College President, Dr. Bob Bigsby will officiate the rededication ceremony to be held west of the Frank Grisdale Hall Residence at 8 p.m.

"This monument symbolizes not only a milestone in time, but also the efforts of the individuals who worked with the community to form a strong base for 4-H to grow upon," says Dr. Bigsby. "It makes us proud to know the roots of 4-H clubs throughout the province are planted here, at Olds College."

Adding to the significance of the annual week-long celebration (July 6 - July 12) is the 50th anniversary of the first Club Week in the province.

Arron Madson, 4-H Club Week Representative in Edmonton, says Olds College's role in this commemorative week. "One of the very first Club Weeks ever to be held in Alberta was hosted at your college," Madson explains. "The week-long event is really a personal development program for as many as 120 delegates aged 15 to 21 years from all across the province."

Throughout Club Week, club members and guest speakers work in groups of 12 to informally discuss and listen to feedback on such issues as dealing with your peers, self-esteem and family problems.

"In honor of Canada's 125th Birthday this year, we will have a special discussion group talking about the nation's unity dilemma," Madson adds.

The enterprising relationship between Olds College and 4-H began in 1917 with the help of, then School of Agriculture Principal, W.J. Elliott.

Elliott was the first to pursue the development of a Swine Club with local students. By 1918, the Alberta Deputy Minister of Agriculture gave Elliott permission to organize additional swine clubs throughout the province.

He encouraged each participant to care, show, and sell prize sows at the fall fair to help them learn more enterprising methods of farming. The concept became so popular that the formation of Crop, Beef, Lamb, Poultry, Garden, and Clothing Clubs soon followed.

The handful of clubs and participants pioneering the 4-H spirit of working together has grown tremendously. Today, there are about 500 clubs taking in an estimated 7,000 members.

"The framework Mr. Elliott built between the College and 4-H still holds strong today. You can see it grow in the enthusiasm and dedication youth have for agriculture," says Dr. Bigsby. "...the 4-H concept of learning by doing has been tightly woven into the fabric of Olds College."

If you would like more information about the rededication ceremony on July 7, or 4-H Club Week, July 6-12, please contact your nearest 4-H Club Leader.

CREMONA/WATER VALLEY NEWS

By Janice Harrington

Coming up on her second anniversary since opening a massage therapy clinic in Water Valley, Shawn Johnson says business is only getting better.

"My clients doubled in the first year I was open," she said. "But this year, I have doubled up again after only the first quarter of the year."

Johnson opened her clinic at her home just north west of Water Valley in 1990 after extensive renovations. The basement of the house she and her husband built from scratch was turned into a reception room, treatment room and office. Johnson said opening the clinic was basically the result of fate.

"I guess I have always been rubbing my friends' backs and necks over the years," said the 43-year-old. "But I didn't realize it until I ran into a friend I hadn't seen for a few years. When I told him I had started schooling on this and planned to start a business he just said it was about time."

Johnson, who has lived in the Water Valley area for the past 14 years, took her massage therapy training at the Calgary College of Holistic Health and plans to continue with more training this summer. She is a member of the Alberta Association of Massage Practitioners and has been actively working with other therapists to get massage accepted as a meaningful method of healing by the general public.

"We are striving to gain more recognition just like the chiropractors did," she said. "I would like to see more people take responsibility for their health instead of putting doctors on a pedestal and saying heal me. We have to accept that 90 percent of healing comes from inside and we shouldn't always rely on doctors to fix us."

Johnson, whose clinic location inspires relaxation in itself, charges $18 per hour for treatment. A usual full body massage takes up to 2 hours. Appointments can be made by calling 637-2372.

Mailbag program to cheer Olympic athletes

Becoming an Olympic athlete requires massive determination and endless, gruelling hours of training, all for the privilege of representing our country to the world. If you've ever wanted to tell our Canadian athletes how much you appreciate all their hard work, now you'll have the chance.

Two corporate Olympic sponsors, Priority Courier and Kraft General Foods Canada, are making it easy for you to cheer on our athletes and wish them good luck as they compete in the Summer Olympics in Barcelona.

Beginning July 2, and until quantities last, special pre-addressed, pre-paid postcards will be available free of charge in postal outlets across Canada.

Just look for the display at your local postal outlet. Pick up a postcard, write down your words of encouragement, and drop it into the mail. All of the cards will be collected and delivered to the athletes via Priority Courier.

The Olympic Mailbag program is an extension of a successful pilot project launched last January that allowed Canadians in 15 cities to send postcards to athletes competing in the Winter Olympics. Some 24,000 postcards were forwarded to Albertville, France, which were distributed to the athletes. Olympic hockey coach Dave King said the postcards made an "impressive pile" and brought them into the team's dressing room to help inspire the players.

Now that the program has been expanded, Canadians across the country will have the opportunity to send their words of encouragement to help inspire all of our Olympic hopefuls.

So remember to fill out a card, because it's not often we get the chance to tell our athletes how proud we are that they are representing us, and how greatly we appreciate their dedication and commitment to excellence.

Jets lose two

The Didsbury Jets lost a pair of league games last week to Olds and Westcott.

In the game against Olds the Jets were never in it as they surrendered 2 homers in the first 2 innings, and lost 17-4.

Against Westcott the Jets played pretty well and managed to get their bats going early, but just couldn't hold off the powerful Westcott attack and fell 16-6.

On the weekend the Jets traveled to a tourney in Calgary and played very well. Losing the first two ball games 9-5 and 7-4 and winning the third game 6-1. But the Jets fell short of making the playoffs.

"We definitely could have won all three games, it was just a matter of falling a bit short once again," said Coach Kevin Krebs. "We showed a lot of positive signs and hit the ball very well. Hopefully this will help us win a few more ball games."

The Jets' next league game will go Tuesday, July 7 against Westdale. The Jets will host Sundre on July 9.

Fastball League standings

A Safer Summer

Summertime cleaning, decorating and gardening usually involves a variety of household chemicals. And, too often, the residues are poured down the drain or dumped in the garbage, endangering the environment. For a safer summer, try these alternatives:

DRAIN DECLOGGER

Toss in one or two handfuls of bicarbonate of soda followed by 100 ml of vinegar. Allow to set for an hour, then run water through.

GLASS, PLASTIC CLEANER

Make your own cleaning spray with 30 ml of vinegar in one litre of water.

CHROME, STAINLESS STEEL CLEANER

Dip a dry cloth in flour and rub on surface.

AIR FRESHENER

Leave an opened box of baking soda or dish of vinegar in the room.

MOTH REPELLENT

Sprinkle cedar wood chips in your storage box or trunk.

GARDEN INSECTICIDE

Mist leaves with soapy water. Or try diatomaceous earth (ground up microscopic plants which clog the insects' pores).

... and in our community:

Spending the warm sunny days painting? Take your leftovers to the local Home Hardware Store during their regular hours. Barrels have been set up to store the goods so they can be dumped regularly.

Alberta Cattle Commission accepting nominations

The Alberta Cattle Commission (ACC) is now accepting nominations for zone delegates.

"Our election process is the democratic basis of the organization. Every cattle producer has a vote and all delegates and directors are elected," says Margaret Jensen, ACC producer liaison committee chairman.

A cattle producer is an individual who has marketed cattle in Alberta during the past 18 months.

The ACC is working to encourage producers to get involved and run as candidates for zone delegates. We are also trying to encourage producers to attend election meetings this fall. The strategic plan requires a high level of producer participation particularly in the planning and budgeting process and determining the level of check-off.

"Producer participation is the key to the Commission understanding the issues facing cattle producers at the grassroots level," adds Jensen.

The ACC is the cattle producers' parliament. To ensure equal representation from all parts of Alberta, the province is divided into nine zones. Ten delegates are elected from each zone. From the ranks of the delegate body, a board of directors is elected.

"This year, there are 46 positions that need to be filled. Each zone delegate is elected for a two year term. Producers can only serve for three consecutive terms before they must step aside and allow other interested cattle producers an opportunity to get involved as a delegate," says Jensen.

The deadline for nominations to be in the office is August 21, 1992. Eligible producers can contact their local delegates or the ACC office in Calgary for nomination forms and information.

All candidates must submit a Resume with the nomination form. The Resumes will be published in the ACC annual publication to familiarize producers with the candidates in their area.

"I view my involvement with the ACC as an extension of my business into agricultural policy and the consumer marketplace. There is a great deal to be gained in expanding one's knowledge of the cattle industry by being involved with the ACC," concludes Jensen.

Election meetings will be held November 2-13 throughout the province.

Barley proposal released

Agriculture Minister Ernie Isley today released a detailed proposal to open the Canada-United States border to private sales of Canada barley into the United States, as well as sales by the Canada Wheat Board (CWB).

The proposal is entitled "A Proposal for a North American Continental Market for Barley." The current system allows the CWB complete control over barley and wheat sales from Canada to export markets.

"This proposal offers a number of advantages over the current system," said Isley. "An open border for barley would provide immediate cash flow benefits to farmers from a United States market that has been a premium market for over a decade. The proposed system takes nothing away from farmers who prefer to market through the board and offers expanded opportunities for farmers who want to market their own barley."

Isley added that this proposal capitalizes on the benefits of the Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and follows the federal government's pillars of reform of Canadian agricultural policy of market responsiveness, greater self-reliance and regional diversity.

Isley and the Honourable Charles Mayer, Minister of State responsible for Grains and Oilseeds, have discussed the issue of a North American continental market for barley. "The arguments on both sides of the issue have been addressed; the opportunities are there and farmers are ready to do business when the regulatory barriers come down," stated Isley.

Copies of the proposal are available upon request from the Alberta Grain Commission.

WEST COAST EXPORTS BREAK CROP YEAR RECORD

West Coast exports of the six major grains to date this crop year have now surpassed the record of 17,012,731 tonnes set in 1987-88.

According to Canadian Wheat Board calculations, the record was broken yesterday when about 72,000 tonnes were loaded to ocean vessels. This pushed 1991-92 total West Coast exports to date just past the previous record.

In making the announcement, the Wheat Board said it wanted to recognize all facets of the grain industry from the farm to the port terminal for their excellent performance. Monthly West Coast export records have been set in seven of the first 10 months of the 1991-92 crop year, which runs to July 31, 1992.

ARMSTRONG

Mrs. Gladys Armstrong of Sundre passed away at the Didsbury Hospital on June 19, 1992.

Gladys was born on May 15, 1909 at Elly, England and moved to Darmody, Sask. in 1914. There she met, and on June 17, 1927 married, Raymond Armstrong. They had two daughters: Berdine and Marilyn. From there they moved to Beacon Hill, Sask. in 1931, Didsbury from 1954-1961, and then moved to Sundre, AB, where she lived from 1961 to September 1991.

Memorial services were held at the Sundre United Church with Rev. David Sutherland officiating on June 25, 1992.

Southwest Didsbury news

By Bessie Eckstrand

Miss Cheryl Weber, bride elect for July 18th to Kevin Ehret of Carstairs, was the recipient of many lovely gifts at a Birthday Club Shower held at the home of Bessie & Cliff Eckstrand on Thursday evening, June 25th. Seventeen ladies joined in to wish Cheryl and Kevin many happy years of wedded bliss. There was much advice given to the bride and ladies told of funny happenings at their wedding. Assisting in opening the gifts was sister Dianne of Calgary and cousin Wanda Weber. Cheryl thanked everyone for the lovely gifts and was sure she and Kevin could use them for many years.

Cheryl grew up in the district and took high school in Didsbury and then worked for the A.G. Food Store before moving to Calgary to work for Burnco Rock Products. Kevin works for Rainbow Couriers, Calgary. The couple will be living in Calgary. Four gentlemen joined the festivities and all enjoyed a potluck lunch.

The 30th Year Celebration of United Church Women was held at Knox United Church on Tuesday, June 23rd. A service of worship was conducted in the main church. Dr. Travis Canaday spoke on the tremendous support physically and spiritually of the U.C.W. Pres. Buelah Gilson spoke on the work of the members and presented the past presidents with a gift. Doreen McEwan and Cathy Dorey sang a duet and pictures were also taken. Present for the occasion was the first President in 1962, Helen Klink of Didsbury. Second President, Doris Moore of Vulcan, and another former President was Meta Lynas of Calgary. Congratulations ladies for a job well done and all enjoyed visiting and partaking of a delicious potluck dinner.

Congratulations go to Cliff Eckstrand who celebrated his 80th birthday by his family hosting an open house and dance party at Westcott Hall on June 13th. Despite the continuous rain, everything was warm and friendly inside Westcott Hall. In the afternoon and evening a capacity crowd enjoyed the entertainment with Grandson Allen Felker as chairman in the program. Daughters Fern Foat of Revelstoke and Bev Felker of Didsbury and grandchildren reminisced through the years with Grandpa. Dr. Travis Canaday spoke a few words and sang several appropriate songs. Sam Fulton congratulated Cliff and told a few jokes and Henry Kuelker made a presentation. Freda Shearer of Carstairs presented, on behalf of the orchestra, a gift and Ruth Sverdahl spoke a few words of appreciation to Cliff.

A bit of hail was reported in the area last week, otherwise with the abundance of rain, and with everything so green, flowers commencing to bloom, birds singing, makes a person happy to live in this beautiful country.

Barbecued spareribs

From Anita Stewart's Country Inn Cookbook (641.5971, pg.
79)
5 lbs./2.25 Kg pork spareribs
1/2 cup/125 ml water
3 Tbsps./45 ml butter
1 large onion
2 Tbsps./25 ml vinegar
1/4 cup/50 ml lemon juice
2 Tbsps./25 ml brown sugar
2 Tbsps./25 ml prepared mustard
1 cup/250 ml ketchup
1 Tbsp./15 ml Worcestershire sauce
Pinch of salt
Pinch of cayenne pepper
1 cup/250 ml chopped fresh parsley

Preheat the oven to 350 F
(180 C). In a covered roasting pan, steam the spareribs with the water in the oven until they are tender—1 1/2 hours. To make the sauce, chop the onion finely and saute it in butter in a large saucepan. When the onion is translucent, add vinegar, lemon juice, brown sugar, mustard,
ketchup, Worcestershire sauce, salt, cayenne and parsley. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

When the spareribs are ready, place them on a baking sheet or pan and cover with the sauce. Return them to the oven and continue baking at 350 F (180 C) for another 30 minutes. They can be served immediately or placed on a barbecue for 10 minutes.

Makes 8-10 finger-licking
servings.

Summer fun notes

**Just A Reminder**

It's just one more week before Summer Fun begins.
Besides the weekly events of crafts, games, music, storytelling and sports, there are special trips planned for July; Cochrane Ranch - July 15 and Calgary Zoo -
July 29. Each week is centered around a theme, such as Destination - North Pole, Sensation Seeking Week, A Village with One Heart and Many Colors, and Wildwood Week. Games and crafts will be incorporated into the theme so that the children will learn new and interesting projects while having lots of fun.
Please register as soon as possible for Summer Fun and the special events as there are a limited number of children accepted. For more information please call the Town Office at 335-8377.

All those children wanting to take swimming lessons this summer, there is a two week bus-in swim lesson program to the Innisfail Aquatic Centre from August 4-14. It is important that you register no later than mid-July for this program. This can be done at the Town Office as well.

A reminder for teens (12-17)
of the Calgary 88's game/Stampede Midway on July 2. This event is in conjunction with the Olds Teen Program and has a limited number of participants. If you are interested in going, sign up now at the Town Office.

Please Note: Change for 3-5 year olds; they will be able to attend Summer Fun for the entire week instead of only on Mondays and Fridays.

Jackson W.I. news

On June 16, 13 members met on a bright, sunny day at Marie Botenberg's back-woods retreat. What a remarkable setting for a remarkable home.

We sang, "Home on the Range" as Marie's choice and then repeated the Creed.

The roll call "Tips to Amuse a Child" had many varied and some amusing answers which included a button box or "stamping" ants. Many read to their children, some baked cookies and some took them for walks with a creek as their destination.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted as read by Lita Reid, our secretary. Marie Olson, our treasurer, gave the treasurer's report which has a satisfactory bank balance.

Kay Unger and Joan Foat, our president, gave their reports as delegates to the Olds Convention. It was the first combined meeting with Women of Uniform. Joan was our delegate on the first and third day and Kay represented us on the second day. From the conference, came the fact that "Pennies for Friendship" supports the London office which is well and good but they would like a more stabilized amount that they could count upon. A.C.W.W.'s finances are in trouble and we as Institutes should set aside a certain amount for administration.

A District 5 meeting was held in conjunction with the Annual A.W.I. conference. The Book of Memories will be kept to the District Level now. The judges for the handicraft and the mileage will be paid by the members rather than at the A.W.I. level. It was suggested that excerpts from the Report Book should be read at every meeting so that by our year-end we would have completed the entire book.

Our own Mary Jane Davies will be the Alberta Agricultural Convenor and Beryl Ward will be our next Alberta Handicraft Convenor. Both Joan and Kay thought it was a worthwhile conference and thanked the members for sending them.

After a summer recess, our next meeting will be at Nakoda Lodge on Sept. 23. It is about a one hour drive from Cremona and the members will meet in Cremona at 12 o'clock. The phoning committee will be phoning everyone to set up schedules and times.

The Fall Fair will be approximately Sept. 12 with Holly Hallett and Mary Jane Davies as the committee making the arrangements.

Nellie Davies and Elma Bird volunteered to bring the Book of Remembrance up-to-date so that we might have a record of our gone, but not forgotten, members.

Noreen Olson, as chairman of the Rural Child Care Pilot Project, gave a talk on the first year of operation. W. Waters from Innisfail is the Secretary and the project is funded by lotteries and the government to the amount of $75,000. There are six people on the executive. There were 19 projects all together scattered over Alberta with one in Cremona. Some of the projects run from Jan. to July 30 and some start up in the Fall. Thank you, Noreen, for the "facts and figures."

The members each brought a dozen cookies or more for the Cancer Clinic in Calgary tea time. Holly Hallett will see to their delivery.

A beautiful lunch was served by Mary Jane Davies and Nellie Davies with Elma Bird's assistance as Mary Jane could not attend the meeting.

A happy, sun-filled summer to you all and remember our next meeting will be on Sept. 23 with Cremona as the car pool spot. And to end: "Remember the tea kettle. Though up to its neck in hot water, it continues to sing."

Mount View Lodge news

By Annie Causch

Hi all! Summer is really here after that lovely rain! Quite a number of residents have been, or are, away for a little change. Most agree it's good to get away for a bit and it's also good to come "home."

The first week in June was Senior Citizen's Week. Our activities here began with an Open House on Sunday and ended with a Family barbecue on Friday night. It was too wet to barbecue outdoors but the hamburgers were just as good cooked in the kitchen. After our delicious supper we were entertained by the Ever Green Choir. Our thanks to all who made this a special week.

At the Senior's Tea during that week we each received a certificate from the Mount View Foundation and a pin from the Town of Olds, so we all felt we were being treated in a very special way.

The June Birthday Party was hosted by Auxiliary members

Betty Jorsvich and Doreen Kellock. Mr. Kellock entertained us with some humorous recitations and then as we enjoyed our tea and tarts. Betty and Doreen went from table to table and "read" our teacups. They really looked nice dressed as gypsies and it was a real "fun afternoon."

Those celebrating June birthdays were Mrs. Aschenbrenner, Mrs. Shanks and Mr. Shortt.

In hospital we have Mrs. Notley, Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Sutherland. Get well soon--we miss you all.

Our June 14 meeting started with a dinner out, Dutch treat at The Didsbury Inn. This was followed by our meeting at the Kinsmen Manor with our hostess Phyllis Leeder.

After the opening ceremonies, we sang, "The more we get together." This seemed appropriate as our next meeting won't be till September.

Our roll call was $4.00 to our community per member in place of a birthday gift exchange at Christmas. This year, the money goes to Mt. View Hall.

Marjory Stiles filled us in on the Provincial W.I. Convention in Olds. This was the first year Uniform ladies and Women's Institute had a joint convention. Each held their own meetings but the meals, entertainment and speeches were together.

The handicraft was down this year some 200 articles.

The agriculture paper from Isabelle Rigsby, read by Peggy Skinner, "Fungus produces useful Herbicide," was most interesting.

The question sheet was completed by our group for our Provincial President Holly Hallett.

As a fundraiser we will have a white elephant table at the Farmer's Market in September.

Our best wishes to our Constituency Convenor Gladys Dowell and her husband Roy on their 40th wedding anniversary, July 11.
